

Inspection Device for Glass Substrates

Application

A device to perform a sampling inspection of glass substrates.

Description

This device performs a sampling inspection for glass substrates. The ELECYLINDER transfers the glass substrate, while the cameras perform an inspection from the top and bottom simultaneously. The customer has adopted the ELECYLINDER because the glass can be transferred at a constant speed and the device is a low-cost solution.